Introduction

A Guide to Resources in the Law Library

- Adoption: “means the establishment by court order of the legal relationship of parent and child;” Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-707(1) (2015).
- “Being of purely statutory origin, a legal adoption results if the statutory procedure is followed, but fails if any essential requirement is not complied with.” Appeal of Goshkarian, 110 Conn. 463, 465, 148 A. 379 (1930).
- “Connecticut law provides for only three types of adoptions: (1) statutory parent adoptions; (2) stepparent adoptions; and (3) blood relative adoptions.” Nancy G. v. Dept. of Children and Families, 248 Conn. 672, 684, 733 A.2d 136 (1999).
- “A statutory parent is defined as ‘the [commissioner] or the child-placing agency appointed by the court for the purpose of giving a minor child . . . in adoption. . . .’ General Statutes § 45a-707 (7). A child-placing agency, in turn, is defined as ‘any agency within or without the state of Connecticut licensed or approved by the Commissioner’ General Statutes § 45a-707 (3)” In re Joshua S., 260 Conn. 182, 218, 796 A.2d 1141 (2002).
- “To complete an adoption, two steps are essential. First, there must be an agreement to give and receive the child in adoption, and second, there must be approval of the agreement by a Probate Court having jurisdiction.” Killen v. Klebanoff, 140 Conn. 111, 115, 98 A.2d 520 (1953).
- Termination of parental rights required: “This court agrees that the termination of parental rights is part of the adoption process; it is clear that adoption cannot proceed unless the parents' rights are terminated in the first instance. The converse is not true. The parents' rights can be terminated without an ensuing adoption.” In re Theresa S., 196 Conn. 18, 30, 491 A.2d 355 (1985).
- “A genetic parent may contract with adopting parents, prior to the adoption, for the continued right to visit the adopted child so long as visitation continues to be in the best interest of the child. See Michaud v. Wawruck, 209 Conn. 407, 551 A.2d 738 (1988). Such agreements are often referred to as ‘open adoption agreements.’ Id., 412.” In re Christopher G., 118 Conn. App. 569, 572, n.6, 984 A.2d 1111 (2009).

Section 1: Adoption by Nonrelated Persons

A Guide to Resources in the Law Library

SCOPE: Bibliographic resources relating to procedures for the adoptions of children by nonrelated persons in Connecticut.

TREATED ELSEWHERE: For adoptions where child has been located by prospective adoptive parents see Section 7: Identified Adoptions

- DEFINITION:
- Adoption: "When both parents' rights are terminated, it becomes the obligation of the state to look for permanent placement for the child or children. Adoption is the most appropriate solution unless family members such as grandparents, aunts, uncles, brothers, sisters, etc., are available to act as surrogates on either a temporary or permanent basis." In re Theresa S., 196 Conn. 18, 30-31, 491 A.2d 355 (1985).
 - Purpose: "In promulgating the adoption statutes, the legislature sought to attain a result that would limit, if not eliminate, the possibility of 'black market adoptions.' In doing so, the legislature purposefully drafted very narrow legislation limiting who may give a child in adoption..." In re Baby Z., Superior Court, Judicial District of New London at Norwich, No. 105695 (April 24, 1996) (1996 Conn. Super. LEXIS 1091).
 - Types of Adoption. "Connecticut law provides for only three types of adoptions: (1) statutory parent adoptions; (2) stepparent adoptions; and (3) blood relative adoptions." Nancy G. v. Dept. of Children and Families, 248 Conn. 672, 684, 733 A.2d 136 (1999).
 - Agency Placement. "An application for the adoption of a minor child not related to the adoptive parents shall not be accepted by the Court of Probate unless (A) the child sought to be adopted has been placed for adoption by the Commissioner of Children and Families or a child-placing agency, and the placement for adoption has been approved by the commissioner or a child-placing agency; (B) the placement requirements of this section have been waived by the Adoption Review Board as provided in section 45a-764; (C) the application is for adoption of a minor child by a stepparent as provided in section 45a-733; or (D) the application is for adoption of a child by another person who shares parental responsibility for the child with the parent as provided in subdivision (3) of subsection (a) of section 45a-724. The commissioner or a child-placing agency may place a child in adoption who has been identified or located by a prospective parent, provided any such placement shall be made in accordance with regulations promulgated by the commissioner pursuant to section 45a-728. If any such placement is not made in accordance with such regulations, the adoption application shall not be approved by the Court of Probate.”

Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-727(a)(3) (2015).

Table 1: Co-Parent Adoption

Co-Parent (or Second-Parent) Adoption
Definition	Co-parent adoption: "By law, the parent of a minor child may agree in writing with someone who shares parental responsibility for that child that the other person adopt or join in adopting the child. Such an adoption cannot take place unless the parental rights of the child's other parent have been terminated (CGS § 45a-724(a)(3)). Such a second-parent adoption, also called a co-parent adoption, gives a co-parent full legal rights with regard to the child." OLR Bill Analysis For File Copy 14 (Public Act 16-156) Second-parent adoption: "...child adoption proceedings where the person seeking to adopt shares parental responsibility with a child's biological parent ('second-parent adoption')." OLR Bill Analysis For File Copy 14 (Public Act 16-156)
Authority	"Subject to the approval of the Court of Probate as provided in section 45a-727, any parent of a minor child may agree in writing with one other person who shares parental responsibility for the child with such parent that the other person shall adopt or join in the adoption of the child, if the parental rights, if any, of any other person other than the parties to such agreement have been terminated." Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-724(a)(3)(2015)
Probate Court Approval	"An application for the adoption of a minor child not related to the adopting parents shall not be accepted by the Court of Probate unless... (D) the application is for adoption of a child by another person who shares parental responsibility for the child with the parent as provided in subdivision (3) of subsection (a) of section 45a-724." Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-727(3)(D)(2015)
Waiver of requirements of notice to the Commissioner. Waiver of requirements for investigation and report by Commissioner.	"(a) Notwithstanding the provisions of section 45a-727, in the case of a child sought to be adopted by a stepparent or a person who shares parental responsibility with the parent of such child pursuant to subdivision (3) of subsection (a) of section 45a-724, the [Court of] Probate Court may waive all requirements of notice to the Commissioner of Children and Families and shall waive, unless good cause is

“Pursuant to the fair preponderance of the evidence presented to the court, the court finds that it is in Izabella's best interest to be placed with her biological family in Pennsylvania. The issue before the court is not to determine which family loves Izabella more or to question the depth of each family's love and affection for her, nor who would make better parents. Indeed, Izabella is clearly a well-loved child. The issue is whether the petitioners have proven that placement of Izabella with her paternal family would be detrimental to her well-being. The petitioners have not proven that assertion to the court by a fair preponderance of the evidence.”

Section 4: Consent to Adoption

A Guide to Resources in the Law Library

SCOPE:

Bibliographic resources relating to procedures for consenting to adoption including withdrawal or revocation of consent

DEFINITION:

- “To complete an adoption, two steps are essential. First, there must be an agreement to give and receive the child in adoption, and second, there must be approval of the agreement by a Probate Court having jurisdiction.” Killen v. Klebanoff, 140 Conn. 111, 115, 98 A.2d 520 (1953).
- “The right to custody has never been an absolute right, which could be bargained away or disposed of or transferred by either parent, except by giving in adoption with the approval of a Court of Probate in a manner prescribed by statute. Johnson v. Terry, 34 Conn. 259, 263; General Statutes, §§ 4878, 4879.” Dunham v. Dunham, 97 Conn. 440, 442, 117 A. 504 (1922) overruled in part on other grounds by Freund v. Burns, 131 Conn. 380, 385, 40 A.2d 754 (1944).
- Consent of child who has attained the age of 12: “A statutory parent appointed under the provisions of section 17a-112, section 45a-717 or section 45a-718 may, by written agreement, subject to the approval of the Court of Probate as provided in section 45a-727, give in adoption to any adult person any minor child of whom he or she is the statutory parent; provided, if the child has attained the age of twelve, the child shall consent to the agreement.” Conn. DEFINITION:

- Open adoption. "The plaintiff does not seek to 'open,' to set aside or to diminish in any way the adoptive process that has substituted the defendants as the legal parents of the child. The plaintiff's rights are not premised on an ongoing genetic relationship that somehow survives a termination of parental rights and an adoption. Instead the plaintiff is asking us to decide whether, as an adult who has an ongoing personal relationship with the child, she may contract with the adopting parents, prior to adoption, for the continued right to visit with the child, so long as that visitation continues to be in the best interest of the child." [emphasis added] [Michaud v. "Nevertheless, it is a phenomenon that is part and parcel of an open adoption, premised upon that rare but cherished situation wherein a parent can accept his or her own limitations as a parent and honor their children's right to healing and their need for a safe and permanent home in the care of someone else. In its discretion, DCF, as statutory parent, is empowered to determine what, if any, role the mother can play in the future of her children. The agreement provided that the petitioner would execute the documents necessary to terminate her parental rights, thereby enabling Jane Roe to adopt the child. In return, the petitioner would receive: (1) visitation rights with the child; (2) access to information concerning the child; and (3) payment for certain legal and medical expenses. The agreement also provided for confidentiality and joint counseling, and set forth the specific terms of visitation by the petitioner. Moreover, the parties agreed to withdraw all existing legal and administrative proceedings against each other.”

Table 4: Cooperative Postadoption Agreement

Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-715 (2016 Supplement)
(j) A cooperative postadoption agreement shall contain the following: (1) An acknowledgment by either or both birth parents that the termination of parental rights and the adoption is irrevocable, even if the adoptive parents do not abide by the cooperative postadoption agreement; and (2) an acknowledgment by the adoptive parents that the agreement grants either or both birth parents the right to seek to enforce the cooperative postadoption agreement. (k) The terms of a cooperative postadoption agreement may include the following: (1) Provision for communication between the child and either or both birth parents; (2) provision for future contact between either or both birth parents and the child or an adoptive parent; and (3) maintenance of medical history of either or both birth parents who are a party to the agreement.

Table 5: Excerpts from an Open Adoption and Visitation Agreement

The "Open Adoption and Visitation Agreement" provides in relevant part:
"1. Adoption. The parties shall all cooperate fully with the state DCYS in the orderly completion of an adoption of the child by the adopting parents. 2. Termination of Rights. The natural mother will withdraw here legal challenge . . . as soon as the adopting parents have approval of their adoption application by DCYS. 3. Visitation. The adopting parents will cooperate fully with the natural mother in the natural mother's visits with the child both now and after the adoption takes place until the child's 18th birthday. The parties agree to be guided in carrying out this provision by the present laws of Connecticut regarding reasonable visitation, which are partly embodied in Connecticut General Statutes Section 46b-56, as they pertain to visitation rights of non-custodial parents in dissolutions of marriage. The tender age of the child and her high sensitivity to her, up to the present, state of uncertainty shall be taken into account by the parties. Each of the parties shall at all times in good faith endeavor to maintain in the child respect and affection for the other parties. The rights of visitation shall not be exercised by the natural mother at any time or in such a manner as to interfere with the education and normal social and school activities of the child. Visitation shall be twice a month for three (3) hours each visit at the Wawrucks' home." Michaud v. Adoption Review Board
Powers of Adoption Review Board	“Notwithstanding the provisions of section 45a-727, the Adoption Review Board may, upon application, notice and hearing as hereinafter provided, for cause shown that it is in the best interests of the minor child, waive the requirement that the minor child be placed by the Commissioner of Children and Families or a child-placing agency.” Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-764(a) (2015). “Any judge of probate who has had presented to him an application for adoption which may not proceed because the child has not been so placed may apply in writing to the Adoption Review Board for a waiver of such requirement.” Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-764(b) (2015).
Membership	“An Adoption Review Board is established, to consist of the Commissioner of Children and Families or his designee, the Probate Court Administrator or his designee, and an officer of a child-placing agency which is located in the state and licensed by the Commissioner of Children and Families, who shall be appointed by the Governor to serve for a term of four years from the date of his appointment.” Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-763(a) (2015).
Qualifications of members	“Each designee or officer shall be a person who is familiar with and experienced in adoption procedures, policies and practices.” Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-763(b) (2015).
Hearing	“The hearing shall be held not less than ten days nor more than thirty days after the receipt of the application. The parties entitled to notice shall be given notice at least ten days prior to the hearing.” Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-764(d) (2015)
Evidence	“Any party to the adoption proceedings shall have the right to present such evidence as is deemed necessary and relevant to the board. After hearing the evidence the board may deny the application or approve the application in which case the chairman shall notify the court of probate that the adoption may proceed and that the requirement of placement by the Commissioner of Children and Families or a child-placing agency is waived.” Conn. Section 8: Special Needs Adoptions

SCOPE:

Bibliographic resources relating to adoption of special needs children including adoption subsidies

DEFINITION:

- A “special needs” child “is a child who is a ward of the commissioner of children and families or is to be placed by a licensed child-placing agency and is difficult to place in adoption because of one or more conditions including, but not limited to, physical or mental disability, serious emotional maladjustment, a recognized high risk or physical or mental disability, age or racial or ethnic factors which present a barrier to adoption or is a member of a sibling group which should be placed together, or because the child has established significant emotional ties with prospective adoptive parents while in their care as a foster child and has been certified as a special needs child by the commissioner of children and families.” Conn. Gen. Stat. § 17a-116 (2015).
- Adoption Assistance Program, 42 U.S.C. § 673(a)(2)(C)
- “Connecticut has enacted an adoption subsidy program that in large part is federally funded and regulated. 42 U.S.C. § 673. The purpose of the legislation is evident by its initial limitation of such subsidies to ‘hard-to-place’ children. Public Acts 1986, No. 86-330, § 2 (rewriting General Statutes § 17a-116 to substitute ‘special needs’ for ‘hard-to-place’). The purpose was and is clearly to assist in moving children from foster care to adoptive homes.” Genn v. Connecticut Dep’t of Children, Superior Court, Judicial District of Hartford-New Britain at Hartford, No. CV97-0569090 (Dec. 4, 1997) (1997 WL 771560) (1997 Conn. Super. LEXIS 3234).

- Nancy G. v. Dep't of Children & Families, 248 Conn. 672, 685-686, 733 A.2d 136, 145 (1999). "Thus, although children from other jurisdictions may be "placed" for adoption by an "approved" out-of-state child-placing agency; see General Statutes § 45a-727 (a)(3); those children do not qualify as "special needs" children within the meaning of § 17a-116 because their "placement" for adoption is not made by a licensed child-placing agency. Consequently, their adoptive parents are not eligible to receive an adoption subsidy from the state of Connecticut pursuant to § 17a-117."

"The language of § 17a-116, moreover, specifically excludes from the definition of "special needs children" children who are not placed for adoption in Connecticut by a licensed agency. Thus, the language of § 17a-116 excludes children who are placed by an out-of-state child-placing agency—a clear indication that the legislature intended that Connecticut not provide adoption subsidies for children from other jurisdictions." p. 687-688

"The subsidy recognizes that there are additional costs that will be incurred by families who adopt children with special needs. These costs are beyond the ordinary cost of raising a child. There is still the responsibility of the parents to provide for the ordinary and every day care of the child."

"Termination of a biological parent's rights, by preventing further litigation with that parent, can preserve the stability a child has acquired in a successful foster placement and, furthermore, move the child closer toward securing permanence by removing barriers to adoption."
- In re Brayden E.-H. et al., 309 Conn. 642, 648-649, 72 A.3d 1083 (2013). "The court further concluded that, in accordance with General Statutes § 46b-129 (k), the petitioner had established by a preponderance of the evidence that the proposed plan of termination and adoption was in the best interests of the children. In so concluding, the court acknowledged the respondent's regular communication with her children while she was incarcerated, as well as her appropriate interactions with them when they visited her monthly. The court also noted, however, significant gains made by both children during the past year that they had been in foster care with Jane and John, who had expressed a willingness to adopt the children."

- In re Santiago G., 318 Conn. 449, 475, n.17, 121 A.3d 708 (2015). "The process of international adoption is highly regulated under federal law. See 42 U.S.C. § 14901 et seq. A major purpose of such regulation is 'to protect the rights of, and prevent abuses against, children, birth families, and adoptive parents involved in adoptions (or prospective adoptions) ... and to ensure that such adoptions are in the children's best interests....' 42 U.S.C. § 14901(b)(2). Maria G. and the respondent knowingly agreed to engage in a subterfuge to evade the strictures of these adoption laws and achieve more expeditiously their own goals, albeit admirable ones. For the trial court, or this court, to somehow fashion a special rule to respect their wishes as to who should be Santiago's mother would amount to the enforcement of an illegal agreement, contrary to the public policies underlying the adoption laws of both this country and of Guatemala.
- In re Yarisha F., 121 Conn. App. 150, 163, 949 A. 2d 296 (2010). "In sum, none of the cases cited by the respondent support the proposition that a sending agency, in this case a court, may rely on an independent determination of the best interest of the child, to deliberately disregard the requirement of article III (d). We agree with the court in In re Adoption of Infants H., supra, 904 N.E.2d 208, that '[t]he conditions for placement set forth in article III of the Compact are designed to provide complete and accurate information regarding children and potential adoptive parents from a sending state to a receiving state and to involve public authorities in the process in order to ensure children have the opportunity to be LEXIS 121). “Though there are no Connecticut cases directly addressing aggrievement in the context of an appeal to an adult adoption, Connecticut law does not consider the expectancy of an inheritance to be a legally protected interest to establish standing. ‘The mere possibility of future inheritance cannot support an appeal by one who is not otherwise directly aggrieved ... The allowance of such appeals, which would invite actions based on speculation rather than on actual fact, would be directly contrary to the principle that an appellant must have a real interest in the matter in controversy.’ (Citations omitted.) *Maloney v. that context the Trust must be interpreted as a whole so that each part thereof is harmonized with the whole trust agreement. Here the legislature has passed ameliorative legislation and has said that an adopted child, in effect, can be the beneficiary of a trust unless his or her participation in the trust as a beneficiary is expressly excluded in the trust agreement and the trust agreement indicates a contrary intention. That is the legislative mandate.”

LEXIS 1254). “The Probate Court held that as a result of that adoption the plaintiff could not prevail upon her claim for a share of Whittaker's estate because General Statute § 45a-731(6) provides in pertinent part that no ‘adopted person have any rights of inheritance from or through the biological parent ...’”
- Connecticut Bank & Trust Co. v. Coffin, 212 Conn. 678, 693, 563 A.2d 1323 (1989). “In Stamford Trust Co. v. Lockwood, 98 Conn. 337, 119 A. 218 (1922), this court held that a child who had been adopted out of the family of her deceased natural father, the son of a life tenant of a testamentary trust established by the child's great grandfather, could not participate in a distribution of the remainder of the trust as one of the “lawful issue” of her grandfather, the life tenant, because she had no vested interest in the remainder at the time of her adoption and had ceased to be the child of her natural father by virtue of a statutory predecessor of § 45-64a(6) providing that an adopted child “shall not inherit estate from its natural parents or their relatives.” General Statutes (1918 Rev.) § 4879. The present case may be distinguished on the ground that the interest of Kathryn Blaire Greenhalgh as one of the income beneficiaries of the trust vested upon her birth. To the extent that the opinion in Stamford Trust Co. may have relied upon a statute plainly applicable only to intestate distributions in construing the term “lawful issue” not to include an adopted-out child, however, it is overruled.”
