

Judges will rule on certain civil non-arguable short calendar matters that have been marked take papers. Starting with the May 4, 2020 calendar, civil non-arguable short calendars will print, and if marked take papers, judges will rule on those motions on the papers. Calendars that will print include SC 10 and non-arguable motions on all Indical calendars assigned to a specific judge under the Individual Calendaring Program. Arguable motions that may require a hearing will not print at this time. As always, attorneys are required to mark their motions electronically unless exempted from e-filing. Self-represented parties and e-filing exempt attorneys can call in their markings to the number listed on their calendar notice. We anticipate the number of motions to be reviewed and processed by judges and clerks from these calendars to be exceedingly large, so we appreciate your patience as we work our way through this unprecedented situation.
