

The Connecticut Supreme Court will hear arguments in two cases on Wednesday, Oct. 19, at Quinnipiac University School of Law.

The visit is part of the Supreme Court's "On Circuit" educational program, which provides students, educators and the public with a greater understanding of appellate courts. Since the program began in 1986, the court has heard arguments at several high schools and higher education locations.

- Date, time, place: Wednesday, Oct. 19, 2016. The first argument will start at 10 a.m., the second, at 11:30 a.m. They both will be heard in the Ceremonial Courtroom, 370 Bassett Road, North Haven, CT 06473. Arguments for each case should last about an hour. A question-and-answer period with counsel from the case, students and faculty will follow each argument.
- Cases to be heard: The 10 a.m. case is Anthony J. Maio v. City of New Haven, case detail and briefs. The 11:30 case is State v. William Fay, case detail and briefs.
- Access/cameras in court: The arguments are open to the public. Quinnipiac will provide pool still photos; please contact Caroline Couig at 203-582-3818 for further information.
- Previous "On Circuit" visits to Quinnipiac: 2002, 1998 and 1995.
- Quotes regarding the visit:
 - Chief Justice Chase T. Rogers: "We are very pleased to travel to Quinnipiac School of Law for the fourth time since 1995. It has been a pleasure to work with the law school on the event, and we are grateful for this opportunity to educate students about the roles and responsibilities of the appellate process."

➤ Quinnipiac University School of Law Dean Jennifer Brown:
“Quinnipiac Law School is honored to host the Connecticut Supreme Court for two oral arguments on October 19, 2016. We are very proud to be a part of the Court’s venerable tradition of ‘on circuit’ arguments, when the Court brings its official proceedings into the community. Our law students and faculty are already reading about the cases to be argued, and students are looking forward to opportunities they will have to speak with the lawyers following the arguments. The entire Quinnipiac University community is thrilled at the prospect of seeing the Justices on our campus doing the Court’s all-important work.”

- Contact information: External Affairs, Connecticut Judicial Branch, 860-757-2270