

E-Services Inbox Training

Commencing February 28, 2017, the following types of notices on civil, family and housing cases that are currently mailed on paper by the court will be provided electronically in the NEW E-Services Inbox to attorneys and law firms without an exclusion from electronic services requirements:

- Judicial notices (may be referred to as JDNOs),
- Court order notices (may be referred to as SCRAM notices),
- Docket number assignment notices,
- Transfer notices, and
- Docket number change notices.

Paper notices will continue to be mailed to self-represented parties and attorneys and law firms with an exclusion from electronic services. Self-represented parties with an appearance and electronic access to their case will have access to notices in the E-Services Inbox.

Attorneys, legal support staff, and the public are invited to come to one of the presentations on the E-Services Inbox (below) to learn more about navigating the Inbox and using its functions to view and manage notices from the court.
