The temporary guardian will cease to serve when the appointing parent or guardian notifies the court and the temporary guardian to that effect.” Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-622(a) (2019).

See - Section 3: Temporary Guardians (page 14)

- Standby guardian of minor: “A parent or guardian, as principal, may designate a standby guardian of a minor in accordance with the provisions of sections 45a-624 to 45a-624g, inclusive. "If any minor has a parent or guardian, who is the sole guardian of the person of the child, the Probate Court for the district in which the minor resides, is domiciled or is located at the time of the filing of the petition may, on the petition of the parent or guardian of such child or of the Commissioner of Children and Families with the consent of such parent or guardian and with regard to a child within the care of the commissioner, appoint one or more persons to serve as coguardians of the child." Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-616(b) (2019).
- Permanent guardianship "means a guardianship, as defined in subdivision (5) of this section, that is intended to endure until the minor reaches the age of majority without termination of the parental rights of the minor's parents;" § 45a-604(8) (2019).

Section 2: Parents as Guardians

A Guide to Resources in the Law Library

SCOPE:

- Bibliographic resources relating to parents as guardians of minors in Connecticut

- "Until a court determines otherwise, both parents are the co-equal guardians of the person of their minor children." Treat v. Verderame, Superior Court, Judicial District of Ansonia-Milford at Milford (July 14, 2000) (27 Conn. L. Rptr. 483), 2000 WL 1058684.
- Mother: "means a woman who can show proof by means of a birth certificate or other sufficient evidence of having given birth to a child and an adoptive mother as shown by a decree of a court of competent jurisdiction or otherwise." Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-604(1) (2019).
- Father: "means a man who is a father under the law of this state including a man who, in accordance with section 46b-172, executes a binding acknowledgment of paternity and a man determined to be a father under chapter 815y." Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-604(2) (2019).
- Parent: "means a mother as defined in subdivision (1) of this section or a "father" as defined in subdivision (2) of this section." Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-604(3) (2019).
- Father and mother joint guardians: "The father and mother of every minor child are joint guardians of the person of the minor, and the powers, rights and duties of the father and the mother in regard to the minor shall be equal. If either father or mother dies or is removed as guardian, the other parent of the minor child shall become the sole guardian of the person of the minor." Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-606 (2019).
- Presumption re best interest of the child to be in custody of parent: "In any dispute as to the custody of a minor child involving a parent and a nonparent, there shall be a presumption that it is in the best interest of the child to be in the custody of the parent, which presumption may be rebutted by showing that it would be detrimental to the child to permit the parent to have custody." Conn. Gen. Stat. § 46b-56b (2019).

- Claim for paternity by putative father: "Failing perfection of parental rights as prescribed by this section, any person claiming to be the father of a child born out of wedlock (1) who has not been adjudicated the father of such child by a court of competent jurisdiction, or (2) who has not acknowledged in writing that he is the father of such child, or (3) who has not contributed regularly to the support of such child, or (4) whose name does not appear on the birth certificate, shall cease to be a legal party in interest in any proceeding concerning the custody or welfare of the child, including, but not limited to, guardianship and adoption, unless he has shown a reasonable degree of interest, concern or responsibility for the child's welfare." - Martocchio v. Savoie et al. , 153 Conn. App. 492, 499-500, 101 A.3d 953 (2014). "...the dispositive issue in this appeal is whether, in the absence of a proper Roth analysis, the defendants [grandparents and former guardians] have standing to proceed with their claim for visitation with the minor child....Our Supreme Court observed that 'Troxel [Troxel v. Granville, 530 U.S. 57, 120 S. Ct. 2054, 147 L.Ed. 2d 49 (2000)] teaches that courts must presume that fit parents act in the best interests of their children, and that so long as a parent adequately cares for his or her children (i.e., is fit), there will normally be no reason for the State to inject itself into the private realm of the family to further question the ability of that parent to make the best decisions concerning the rearing of that parent's children.... Moreover, Troxel that among those interests lying at the core of a parent's right to care for his or her own children is the right to control their associations.... Furthermore, Troxel confirms that the family integrity is the core element upon which modern civilization is founded and that the safeguarding of familial bonds is an innate concomitant of the protective status accorded the family as a societal institution.'" Roth v. Weston, 259 Conn. 202, 216-217.

- In re Jaccari J. , 153 Conn. App. 599, 604-605, 101 A.2d 961 (2014). "Ultimately, the court concluded that the children had 'a long-term continuous relationship with their biological parent, the father. [The grandmother] has been unable to provide for the boys' medical and therapy needs and follow through with the recommendations of the therapists on a consistent basis.'"

"The court went on to find, by a fair preponderance of the evidence, that "it is in the best interest of both [children] that guardianship and custody be transferred to their father...."

"The court finds that ... the biological father of [the children] is suitable and worthy."

- In re Brian W., 124 Conn. App. 787, 6 A.3d 136 (2010). "General Statutes § 45a-611 (a) and (b) provide that, in order to reinstate the parent as guardian, the court must find that the factors that resulted in the removal of the parent have been resolved satisfactorily and that it is in the best interests of the children to do so. In this appeal, the respondents claim that the trial court improperly concluded that the petitioner had resolved those factors and that transferring custody to the petitioner was in the best interests of the children."
- In re Max V., Superior Court, Judicial District of Middlesex at Middletown, No. M08CP09011047A (May 12, 2010) (2010 WL 2926045). "Removal of a parent as guardian does not terminate the parent's right to see the child and to be involved in the child's life. In fact, General Statutes § 45a-612 specifically provides for the visitation rights of a parent removed as guardian. Moreover, General Statutes § 45a-611 provides for the reinstatement of a parent as guardian of the person of a minor child, if appropriate."
- In re DeLeon J., 290 Conn. 371, 963 A. 2d 53 (2009). "On appeal, the respondent claims that, pursuant to § 45a-611, she was entitled to a hearing on the merits of her petition for reinstatement of guardianship and that the court violated her right to due process by denying her petition without providing her with adequate notice of the time and date for that hearing. We agree."
- In re Tayquon H., 76 Conn. App. 693, 710, 821 A.2d 796 (2003). "Although the issues are clouded by the appointment of an attorney as well as a guardian ad litem to represent the interests of the child, S, the absence of an enumerated list of the duties of the guardian ad litem does not prevent us from resolving the issues presented by this case because we conclude that the guardian ad litem supersedes the role of the natural guardian to speak for the child's best interest in the present litigation. In contrast to a guardian of a person who has physical control of the minor or a guardian of an estate who has legal control over the minor's financial affairs, the guardian ad litem is appointed by a court and granted limited powers to represent the interest of the child in a particular court proceeding."
- In Re Crystal H., Superior Court, Juvenile Matters at Middletown (May 22, 2002) (32 Conn. L. Rptr. 127), 2002 WL 1336088. "The Probate Court ordered removal of the child to a distant state and the placement of the child with a non-parental guardian without his knowledge or consent. The placement of the child in a different school was a direct and necessary consequence. All three of these decisions trample on father's basic guardianship rights and responsibilities. While the decision may have been in the best interest of the child, the father had no opportunity to consider that question or take a position on it before the Probate Court appointed the temporary guardian and the child was removed to Arizona.”

- In re Helen B., 50 Conn. App. 818, 719 A.2d 907 (1998) “The legislature has set the standard that governs a petition for the removal of a surviving parent as the guardian of his or her children.’ Garrett’s Appeal from Probate, 237 Conn. 233, 235, 676 A.2d 394 (1996). “The father and mother of every minor child are joint guardians of the person of the minor If either father or mother dies ... the other parent of the minor child shall become the sole guardian of the person of the minor.’ General Statutes § 45a-606. The court may remove a parent as guardian only if it finds by clear and convincing evidence that one or more of the grounds enumerated in General Statutes § 45a-610 have been proven by clear and convincing evidence.” Garrett’s Appeal from Probate, 44 Conn. Sup. 169, 171, 677 A.2d 1000 (1994) aff d, 237 Conn. 233, 676 A.2d 394 (1996). We are aware, however, that ‘[t]he provisions of sections 45a-603 to 45a-622, inclusive, shall be liberally construed in the best interests of any minor child affected by them, provided the requirements of such sections are otherwise satisfied.” General Statutes § 45a-605 (a).”
- Bristol v. Brundage, 24 Conn. App. 402, 405, 589 A.2d 1 (1991). “This statute [§ 46b-56b] was enacted to counteract the holding of McGaffin v. Roberts [below] . . . which held that 45-43 (now 45a-606) did not create a presumption that a surviving parent is entitled to preference in a custody dispute.”
- Posey v. Yandell, 26 Conn. Supp. 320, 323, 222 A.2d 747 (1966). “Upon the death of the mother, the plaintiff became the sole guardian of the child Carolyn. It follows that the plaintiff has a prior right to custody unless the circumstances are such that to give it to him would not be for the best interest of the child.”

- In Re Savannah L., Superior Court, Judicial District of Waterbury, Juvenile Matters at Waterbury, Docket No. U06-CP09-006773 (Mar. 2, 2010), 2010 Conn. Super. LEXIS 507. "A court may remove a guardian only if it finds that one or more of the grounds set forth in General Statutes § 45a-610 have been established by clear and convincing evidence. In Re Helen B., 50 Conn.App. 818, 827 (1998). The petitioner has not established any one of the grounds set forth in the governing statute . . . Determining the parent of a child . . . cannot be guided solely on the basis of 'nature,' but must also be premised on 'nurture.' Seymour v. Seymour, 180 Conn. 705, 712 (1980). Not only was Mr. L. the guardian at the time of the commencement of these proceedings, he has been a guardian/father to the child and he intends to continue to be a caring and providing guardian/father to the child. The minimum obligations of a parent or guardian are to demonstrate love and affection for the child; express concern for the child's health, education and general welfare; supply food, clothing, shelter and medical care; and provide guidance in life's activities and choices. In Re Rayna M., 13 Conn.App. 23, 37 (1987). Mr. L. has the ability and the will to fulfill all of these responsibilities, and this court finds that it would be in the child's best interests for his role as guardian to continue.

- In re Jacquelyn W., 169 Conn. App. 233, 240, 150 A.3d 692 (2016). "Although a parent's rights are affected by a permanent transfer of guardianship, the consequences of a permanent transfer are not as severe as a complete termination of a parent's rights. In this case, for example, it was expected that the respondent mother would continue to have regular visits and contact with her daughter, even after the transfer of guardianship. Jacquelyn resides with a relative, but she has expressed the desire to continue her relationship with the respondent. Although the transfer of guardianship is by no means insignificant, it is not as drastic a deprivation as a termination of parental rights, and we decline to exercise our supervisory authority to require a pretrial canvass beyond that which In re Yasiel R. requires."
- In Re Haydee W., 2015 WL 6437229. "The mother believes Mr. And Mrs. T. are suitable and worthy guardians and that awarding guardianship to them is in Haydee's best interest as set forth in her motion to transfer guardianship to Mrs. T. The father also has filed a motion to transfer guardianship to Mrs. T. as an alternative to his motion to revoke. Based upon the foregoing, this court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that Mr. and Mrs. T. are worthy and suitable people to assume legal guardianship of Haydee and having them as her guardians is in Haydee's best interest."

We conclude that, once it was determined that the transfer was not in Mindy's best interests, the court was not required to make any further findings, as the denial of the motion to transfer guardianship was required by law."

Egan, 265 Conn. 301, 828 A.2d 549 (2003), in which we held that the exception to the doctrine of sovereign immunity for actions by state officers in excess of their statutory authority applies only to actions seeking declaratory or injunctive relief, not to actions for money damages. When a plaintiff brings an action for money damages against the state, he must proceed through the office of the claims commissioner pursuant to chapter 53 of the General Statutes, §§ 4-141 through 4-165. Otherwise, the action must be dismissed for lack of subject matter jurisdiction under the doctrine of sovereign immunity. In the present case, the plaintiffs have not received permission from the office of the claims commissioner to bring their claims for money damages against the state. Therefore, the doctrine of sovereign immunity bars those claims.”

Section 7: Testamentary Guardian or Guardian Designated by Parent in Event of Parent's Death

A Guide to Resources in the Law Library

SCOPE:

- Bibliographic resources relating to guardianships of minors in Connecticut

DEFINITION:

- Testamentary guardian: "The parent of an unmarried minor, except a parent who has been removed as guardian of the person of the minor, may by will or other writing signed by the parent and attested by at least two witnesses appoint a person or persons as guardian or coguardians of the person of such minor, as guardian or coguardians of the estate, or both, to serve if the parents who are guardians of the minor are dead. If two or more instruments, whether by will or other writing, contain an appointment, the latest effective appointment made by the last surviving parent has priority. Such appointment shall not supersede the previous appointment of a guardian made by the court of probate having jurisdiction." Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-596(a) (2019).

- In re Joshua S., 260 Conn. 182, 205, 794 A.2d 996 (2002). "All of the foregoing cases speak to a liberty right that has its basis in an ongoing relationship between parent and child. In this case, however, this special relationship no longer exists; what remains is a predeath statement by the parents of strong preference for the future regarding who should be guardians for their children. The Ps do not cite and, indeed, we have not discovered, any authority to support the proposition that this fundamental liberty interest of parents survives the death of the parents, much less that it may be passed to testamentary guardians who have had no previous relationship with the child, other than as neighbors. In the case before us, because this special parent-child relationship no longer exists, this constitutionally protected interest, likewise, no longer exists. Therefore, we are not required to give the same deference to a predeath statement of preference as we would were this a decision concerning a child made by a living parent."

- Bristol v. Brundage, 24 Conn. App. 402, 406, 589 A2d 1 (1991). "We hold that 45a-596 (a) should be interpreted as mandating the appointment of the sole surviving parent's testamentary choice of a guardian because it should be presumed that the best interests of the child are served by that appointment. This presumption, like that of 46b-56b, may be rebutted only by a showing that it would be detrimental to the child to permit the named testamentary guardian to serve as such."

- In re: B, Conserved Person, 29 Quinnipiac Prob. L.J. 383, 408 (2016). "In the consideration of conflicts between co-guardians or co-conservators, the standard of review is the same, although there are two statutes which arguably apply. Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-679 (2016) authorizes the Court to resolve conflicts between a plenary guardian or limited guardian of the person with an intellectual disability and a conservator of the estate or person for the same individual. Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-657 (2016) similarly empowers the Court to resolve conflicts between conservators. In each case the Court is directed to make its determination on the basis of the best interests of the ward or conserved person.

In this case, the Westport-Weston Probate Court is the proper court for jurisdiction of this dispute because the guardians and conservators, each being the same set of parents, were appointed in this Court."

- In re: The Guardianship of Z., 29 Quinnipiac Prob. L.J. 18 (2015). "Our statutes provide no explicit guidelines to aid the Court in determining what is in the best interest of an intellectually disabled adult when plenary guardianship is contested. Neither party in this matter nor this Court has been able to find a case precisely on point. This category of adults is unique; while they are entitled to the vast majority of civil rights conferred on adults, the reality of their condition requires them to be treated like children in terms of their daily care. Although no one can predict the future with certainty, it is likely that the vast majority of these adults will not change so much as to no longer need a plenary guardian. However, as they age, they may well mature in certain aspects of their life so as to be able to express a preference with respect to what they want to do and with whom they would like to spend their time."
- In re Cindy Marie Garcia, 26 Quinnipiac Probate Law Journal 219 (2013). "The first issue presented is the standard to be applied in a case appointing a guardian for an adult. The statute and the case law delineate a simple 'best interests' standard. See Conn. Gen. Stat. § 45a-676(f) (2011) [now 2013]. The Connecticut Supreme Court has held that a respondent's preference is one factor the court must consider when determining the best interests of the respondent, and the court 'may also give weight to other factors that bear on the respondent's 'best interests'." Oller v. Oller-Chiang, 230 Conn. 828, 849, 646 A.2d 822, 833 (1994) (emphasis in original). The court in Oller also acknowledged that, in some cases, it may be difficult to determine a respondent's preference. As the court explained, "[t]his may be the case, for example, if a respondent cannot understand that he or she may express a preference or cannot effectively communicate that preference." Oller v. Oller-Chiang, 230 Conn. 828, 851, 646 A.2d 822, 834 (1994).

LEXIS 619. "Because of the special affinity existing between parent and child, a parent of a mentally retarded adult should enjoy the same legally protected rights and status as the parent of a minor. Thus, a father has sufficient standing as a parent to appeal from a decision of a Probate Court denying him the appointment of the guardianship of his adult daughter who is determined to be incompetent."

"While the court acknowledges that there is some appeal in recognizing a claim for damages by a parent of a mentally handicapped adult, the court concludes that the wiser judicial policy is not to recognize this type of claim. The cause of action asserted is a form of third-party liability of the defendants. That is, the parent seeks to recover from the defendants, not for tortious harms that the defendants inflicted directly on her, but for financial and emotional harms she alleges to have suffered as a result of the defendants' tortious conduct committed against another with whom she has close relationship, namely, her son."

- Oller v. Oller-Chiang, 230 Conn. 828, 831-832, 646 A.2d 822 (1994). "More specifically, we address the following principal issues: (1) whether the act requires that the respondent be present at any court hearing concerning the appointment of a guardian; (2) whether the respondent may waive his or her presence and, if so, the necessary requirements for such a waiver; and (3) whether, in determining what is in the best interests of the respondent, the judge must ascertain the respondent's preference as to who should be his or her guardian."

Section 9: Jurisdiction of the Courts Over Guardianship

A Guide to Resources in the Law Library

SCOPE:

- Bibliographic resources relating to the Connecticut court's jurisdiction over guardianships of minor's person in Connecticut

DEFINITIONS:

- Transfer of proceeding to Superior Court or Regional Children's Probate Court: "Before a hearing on the merits in any case under sections 45a-603 to 45a-622, inclusive, that is contested, the Probate Court shall, on the motion of any party other than a party who applied for the removal of a parent as a guardian, or may, on the court's own motion or motion of the party who applied for the removal of a parent as a guardian, transfer the case to the Superior Court in accordance with rules adopted by the judges of the Supreme Court. In addition to the provisions of this section, the Probate Court may, on the court's own motion or motion of any interested party, transfer any proceeding under sections 45a-603 to 45a-622, inclusive, to a Regional Children's Probate Court established pursuant to section 45a-8a. If the case is transferred and venue altered, the clerk of the Probate Court shall transmit to the clerk of the Superior Court or the Regional Children's Probate Court to which the case was transferred, the original files and papers in the case." - Age of minor: "The Supreme Court issued its opinion in In re Henry P. B.-P., supra, 327 Conn. at 316, 173 A.3d 928, ... holding that the Probate Court does not lose its authority to make special immigrant juvenile status findings pursuant to § 45a-608n(b) when the child who is the subject of the petition reaches the age of eighteen during the pendency of the petition. We agree with the petitioner that In re Henry P. B.-P. controls the resolution of this appeal." In re Sandy J. M.-M., 179 Conn. App. 772, ---A.3d--- (2018).
- Probate Court: "In Connecticut since the earliest colonial days, 'a benign yet arbitrary power, which every sovereignty exercises, to take care of the persons and estates of infants,' has been conferred by statute upon the Courts of Probate From any decree of the Court of Probate, any person aggrieved may appeal to the Superior Court The appellate court will take the place of the Court of Probate and try the case de nova, but it has no greater power." Section 11: Appointment of Guardians

SCOPE:

- Bibliographic resources relating to the appointment of guardians of minors

DEFINITION:

- Appointment of guardian of the person of a minor: "When appointing a guardian, coguardians or permanent guardian of the person of a minor, the court shall take into consideration the following factors: (1) The ability of the prospective guardian, coguardians or permanent guardian to meet, on a continuing day to day basis, the physical, emotional, moral and educational needs of the minor; (2) the minor's wishes, if he or she is over the age of twelve or is of sufficient maturity and capable of forming an intelligent preference; (3) the existence or nonexistence of an established relationship between the minor and the prospective guardian, coguardians or permanent guardian; and (4) the best interests of the child. There shall be a rebuttable presumption that appointment of a grandparent or other relative related by blood or marriage as a guardian, coguardian or permanent guardian is in the best interests of the minor child." § 45a-617 (2019).
- Appointment of guardian of the estate of a minor: "If the court finds that there is no guardian of the estate of the minor, it may appoint one or both of the parents or any guardian of the person of the minor to be guardian of his or her estate. If neither parent nor the guardian of the person of the minor will accept the appointment, or if the parents or guardian of the person of the minor are not proper persons to act as guardian of his or her estate, the court may appoint any proper person or persons chosen by the minor if the minor is twelve years of age or over. If the minor neglects to make choice or fails to choose a proper person or persons or is not of sufficient age, the court of probate shall appoint some proper person or persons, who, as guardian of the estate of the minor, shall have charge of all the minor's property, whether acquired before or after the guardian's appointment, but shall have no control over such minor's person. If any minor who has a guardian marries and owns or thereafter acquires property, the guardianship of such property shall continue during such person's minority. Any guardian so appointed shall give a probate bond." § 45a-629\(b\)(2019).

strong preference for the future regarding who should be guardians for their children. The Ps do not cite and, indeed, we have not discovered, any authority to support the proposition that this fundamental liberty interest of parents survives the death of the parents, much less that it may be passed to testamentary guardians who have had no previous relationship with the child, other than as neighbors. In the case before us, because this special parent-child relationship no longer exists, this constitutionally protected interest, likewise, no longer exists. Therefore, we are not required to give the same deference to a predeath statement of preference as we would were this a decision concerning a child made by a living parent."

- In Re Avirex R., 151 Conn. App. 820, 835, 96 A. 3d 662 (2014). "Unlike subsection (m) of § 46b-129, neither subsection (j) of § 46b-129 nor Practice Book § 35a-12A provides a presumption of fitness for a parent or former guardian (who may be opposing the motion). See footnote 8 of this opinion. This is because a motion to transfer guardianship is simply dispositional in nature, and does not require the court to review the underlying cause for commitment, which has already been judicially determined during an earlier phase of the proceeding. Compare Practice Book § 35a-12A (a) ("[m]otions to transfer guardianship are dispositional in nature, based on the prior adjudication") with § 46b-129 (m) (requiring court to review cause for commitment and conclude that it no longer exists before revoking commitment of child)."

"The intent of that body is that a parent may be removed for failure to meet any one of the specified needs of the child, and that in appointing a subsequent guardian, the court must take into consideration the ability of the prospective guardian to meet all of the needs of a child."
