E-Services Procedures and Technical Standards for Facsimile Filing

I. General Provisions

A. Scope/Authority - These revised E-Services Procedures and Technical Standards have been issued by the Honorable Elizabeth A. Bozzuto, Chief Court Administrator under the authority of Section 4-4 of the Connecticut Practice Book, to become effective on July 3, 2023. They apply to all electronic services offered by the Judicial Branch. Specific procedures that apply to facsimile filing, e-filing, short calendar markings, small claims, exhibits, transcript orders, and electronic citations (eCitations), are set forth in subsequent sections of these procedures and technical standards.

V. Facsimile Filing of Motions, Pleadings, or Other Documents

A. Scope - Pursuant to Section 4-4 of the Connecticut Practice Book, the following procedures are established by the Office of the Chief Court Administrator for the filing of motions, pleadings, or documents by electronic means through facsimile filing. Attorneys and law firms without an exemption from electronic services requirements cannot file documents through facsimile filing in cases in which they have an appearance on behalf of a party if electronic filing through e-filing is mandatory for the case.

B. Form/Page Limits - Any pleading, document, or other paper filed by facsimile transmission shall be accompanied by a Facsimile Transmission Cover Sheet (JD-CL-73) prescribed by the Office of the Chief Court Administrator. Such filings may not exceed twenty pages, including the cover sheet, unless otherwise directed by the court.

C. Original Document/Certification - The facsimile transmission received by the clerk shall be deemed the original. A facsimile transmission of a signed pleading, document, or other paper shall be considered signed for purposes of Section 4-2 and Section 10-14 of the Practice Book. The attorney or party shall retain the signed copy of the pleading, document, or other paper during the pendency of the action, any appeal period, and any applicable appellate process. The signed copy retained by the filer shall contain a certification signed by the filer indicating that the document is a true copy of the document that was transmitted by facsimile to the clerk. The filer shall produce the signed copy upon request of the Court. If the filer fails to produce the document, the Court may take any action and impose any sanction it deems appropriate.

D. Specific Types of Documents - Except as otherwise provided in these procedures, any pleading, document, or other paper may be filed with the court by facsimile transmission.

1. Documents requiring oath/affirmation - Documents that require an oath or affirmation may, if signed and fully executed in writing, be submitted by facsimile. The filing party shall retain the original paper documents throughout the pendency of the action, any appeal period, and any applicable appellate process.

2. The following may not be filed by facsimile:

- a. Any pleading, document, or other paper that commences an action,
- b. Any filings that must be accompanied by any fee or other payment,
- c. Criminal summonses and complaints,
- d. Uniform Arrest Reports, arrest reports, bond forms and seized property inventories, and
- e. Documents in cases for which electronic filing through e-filing is mandatory, unless the attorney or law firm has been granted an exemption from electronic services requirements.

E. Filing date/Confirmation - Facsimile filings shall be complete upon the receipt of the entire document by the clerk's office. Facsimile transmissions received by the clerk's office during the normal hours of operation of the office shall be deemed filed that day. A document that is received outside of the normal business hours, including a day on which the clerk's office is closed, shall be deemed filed on the next business day upon which such office is open. The date of filing shall be as recorded on the document by the clerk. The filer must cause the transmitting facsimile machine to print a transmission record which shall be retained by such filer for each transmission. If the facsimile document is not filed with the court as set forth herein because of an error in transmission unknown to the sender or because of a failure to process the facsimile document when received by the court, the filer may move for an order to allow the filing of the document as deemed appropriate by the court. This motion shall be accompanied by the transmission record, a copy of the document transmitted, and an affidavit of transmission.

F. Failure to comply with standards and procedures - If a document exceeds the page limit, is incomplete as transmitted, is faxed to the incorrect court, or is otherwise not in compliance with the requirements of this section, the clerk shall not file the transmitted document but shall destroy it and return the cover sheet to or otherwise notify the sender as to why the document was not filed.
